Decontrol Board Men Are Named

Will Have Final Say In What Shall Or Shall Not Be Under Price Ceilings

By Sterling F. Green

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—President Truman today named the men of "judgment and fairness" who will form the decontrol board set up under the new price control act:

Roy L. Thompson, chairman. He is a southern banker and economics professor and has been president of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans since 1938.

George H. Mead. He is a middle western industrialist, organizer and board chairman of the Mead Pulp & Paper Co. of Dayton, O. He was chairman of the Industrial Advisory Board under the NRA and later an industry member of the War Labor Board and member of the Advisory Board of the Office of War Mobilization.

Daniel W. Bell. A veteran treasury department official, he finally became Acting Director of the Budget and Treasury undersecretary, resigning to take a position with a Washington bank.

Have Final Say

These men subject to senate confirmation, will have the final say on what items shall or shall not be under price ceilings and they will be paid at the rate of $12,000 a year.

The Decontrol Board is charged with determining whether meat, dairy products and the other items conditionally exempt from ceilings shall continue free of controls after August 20.

The senate referred the nominations to its banking committee which may act Monday. Senator Wherry (R-Nebr.), critic of OPA, commented that he considers Bell a good choice but knows little about the other two and has no immediate reaction. Senator Hawkes (R-N.J.) told reporters he thinks all three are "new deals." Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) praised the three selections.

Have Public Confidence

Price Administrator Paul Porter said in a statement the public will have confidence in the appointees.

"I am gratified at the type of public spirited men who have accepted appointment to this board," he said. "The public will have confidence in their decision, and the work of the Office of Price Administration and Stabilization will be immeasurably strengthened because of the caliber of the individuals who have agreed to serve."

Mr. Truman, in his message to congress after signing the bill Thursday, had promised that the board members would be "men in whose judgment and fairness the congress and the country will have complete confidence." He told his news conference, too, that he aimed at an unpaired jury.

View To Public

The OPA meanwhile gave industry and consumers their first clear view of sweeping exemptions which removed about half of all foods products from price control under the OPA revival act. Ceilings are knocked out, Price Administrator Paul Porter revealed, on all items containing 20 percent or more by volume of meat, poultry and eggs, dairy products, or cotton seed and soy bean derivatives. The law bars ceilings on anything made in substantial part from these farm products and OPA decided 20 percent is "substantial."

This lifts the price lid from most mayonnaise, salad dressings, margarine and vegetable shortenings; animal gelatin and lard; canned chicken and powdered eggs, butter cheese and ice cream; soy bean food products and soy flour and bread.

OPA's torrent of new price increases slowed to a trickle, meanwhile, the major boost being a $2 increase on pig iron. Earlier in the day, Porter told consumers that the new price law would "prevent runaway inflation" but food and clothing prices will climb.

Bikini Lagoon Dangerously Radioactive

Task Marshall As Member Of Commission

ABOARD U. S. S. MT. McKINLEY, Sunday, July 28.—(AP)—Bikini lagoon was so dangerously radioactive today, three full days after the atomic bomb explosion, that no one was permitted to make close-range inspection of the damaged target fleet.

Only fast-moving patrol boats made quick dashes to the edges of the invisible radiation "walls" that hemmed in the targets.

To the list of apparently damaged ships was added the battleship Nevada, which was seen to be listing. This red-painted battleship of the aerial atomic bomb of July 1 had been placed on the outer ring of targets for the July 25 underwater detonation.

Latest unofficial opinion in the joint task force conducting the bomb experiments was that none of the four wounded battleships, Nevada, New York, Pennsylvania or the Japanese Nagato, was now in danger of sinking.

To Scuttle Vessels
An undetermined number of the target vessels, however, are due to be scuttled or otherwise sunk after all available data has been gleaned from their virtually worthless carcasses, Vice-Adm. W. H. P. Blandy indicated.

Blandy, top commander of the unprecedented "operations crossroads" tests, said remaining small craft probably would be scuttled within the lagoon and that big ships would be disposed of at sea "with orthodox weapons."

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—Senators heard reports today that President Truman had considered naming Gen. George C. Marshall a member of the proposed commission on domestic control of atomic energy.

A senator who asked not to be identified told a reporter the former army chief of staff had been mentioned by Mr. Truman in preliminary discussions recently of the personnel of the five-member board. This group would be given unprecedented powers under a control bill sent to the White House yesterday.

Speculate On Appointment
As speculation on appointments continued even in advance of the President's expected approval of the measure, there were these other developments:

1. Senator Austin (R-Vt.) said the bill gives American representatives on the United Nations commission considering international controls a "clear mandate" not to divulge any information to other nations about nuclear fission until congress determines that effective international controls are in operation.

Beauford Jester Leads In Texas Primary

DALLAS, July 27.—(AP)—Beauford Jester continued to lead Homer P. Rainey in the governor's race tonight as the Texas election bureau gave early reports at 9 p. m. on the first Democratic primaries from 25 of 254 counties. Jester had 13,943 votes; Rainey, 9,507; Grover Sellers, 5,562; John Lee Smith, 3,655; and Jerry Sailer, 3,237.

Congress Picks Friday For Adjournment

By William F. Arbogast
WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—The 79th congress slapped "unfinished" labels on many of President Truman's favorite legislative proposals today and started heading homeward.

The house today picked next Friday as the date for formal and final adjournment but there was little expectation of anything more than formalities and non-controversial business after the week-end. Earlier there had been talk of quitting as early as Wednesday. The senate has yet to act on the resolution.

Bagby, Mayor of the City of Sedalia, in order that we may honor the men and women of the Army Air Forces who have given their lives, and recognize the service of all those who in the armed forces or in the civilian centers of science, research and production have contributed to the building of our air might, do hereby proclaim Thursday, August 1, as Air Force Day.

Man Dies of Knife Wounds

WEST PLAINS, Mo., July 27.—(AP)—A man tentatively identified as Tony Propher, St. Joseph, Mo., by Mrs. Mayne Thornburg, county coroner, died early today in a West Plains hospital of a knife wound in the heart.

Sheriff Lester Davis and Trooper Clyde Brill of the state highway patrol said they were informed the man was stabbed at Dora, Mo., about 40 miles west of here during the annual Dora picnic.

At Gainesville, county seat of Ozark county, Sheriff Vest V. Bushong was reported working on the case, but no details were known there.

Sheriff Davis and Trooper Brill along with deputy Sheriff M. F. Hardin are assisting in the investigation. Sheriff Davis reported they were seeking the slain man's wife and three other persons who were with Propher when he arrived at Dora several days ago.

Veteran Pleads Not Guilty of Murder

HANNIBAL, Mo., July 27.—(AP)—Melvin Lankford, 26-year-old World War veteran, pleaded innocent today at his arraignment on a second degree murder charge in the death of Christopher Layne, 82.

Layne, a rooming house operator, died at a hospital last night. He had been found in a pool of blood about 2:30 yesterday morning at his rooming house.

Lankford was released on $2,000 bond pending preliminary hearing August 5.

New Reports Turned Over to Inquiry Board

States Officers Were Told to Shield Son Of Munitions Man

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—Senate war profits investigators turned their scrutiny today on a reported sale of Washington influence on war contracts to a firm that did not get the help it paid for.

Another focus of Mead committee interest was a story that superior officers had instructions to shield the son of a munitions manufacturer from harm during his war service.

Members disclosed that these reports had been turned over to the staff of the war investigating committee with instructions to determine the truth or falsity of both reports.

At the same time Chairman Mead (D-NY) announced that Lindsay C. Warren, the comptroller general, has been summoned to a public hearing Monday to explore the possibilities of checking on improper war profits through facilities of the general accounting office.

Mention Detroit Concern
Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) disclosed that a Detroit concern had been mentioned in the reported transaction with a Washington purveyor of "influence."

From another member of the committee, who declined to be quoted by name, it was learned that the committee had received a report that an individual had offered to obtain a war contract for a fee and had then reneged on his part of the transaction after getting the money.

This member said that the contract was reported as not involving the companies in the Garsson munitions combine currently under investigation by the committee, but he added that some of the same individuals mentioned in that investigation were concerned in the "entirely new" report.

Officers Justified In Killing Bandits

OSCEOLA, Mo., July 27.—(AP)—A coroners jury today ruled that Sheriff Logan Peery and Deputy J. E. Kincaid were justified in killing two bank bandits near here last Monday.

The shooting of Philip Cronin and Bill Frizzell, who had just robbed the Humansville, Mo., bank, was "in the line of duty and in self defense and for resisting arrest," the jury said.

CALIFORNIA, Mo., July 27.—(AP)—Fire of unknown origin early today destroyed the amphitheater at the local fairgrounds.

It was the second fire in recent months, the art hall having burned April 9.

Minister And Wife Reunited At Air port in Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 27.—(AP)—All was well today with Rev. John Paul Lambert and his wife, Emily.

They were reunited at Municipal airport as the husband arrived from Bonner Springs, Kas., shortly after 1:30 a. m. (central standard time) to greet joyfully the wife who left him and two children a week ago "just on impulse."

The 41-year-old pair spent most of the rest of the night talking in a hotel room. The minister said they planned to return home today and then have a second honeymoon.

Said Lambert, pastor of the church in the country:

Nazis Wines Under Lawyers Biting Words

By G. K. Hodenfield

NUERNBERG, July 27.—(AP)—British Prosecutor Sir Hartley W. Shawcross demanded today the death penalty for 22 top Nazis retribution for turning the world into a cauldron of death, persecution and horror.

Winding up his eight-hour speech, which began at yesterday's session of the international military tribunal, Sir Hartley named each defendant, from Hermann Goering to the absent Martin Bormann, and then declared: "These are guilty men."

The once swaggering, confident key men in Hitler's quest for world domination winced under the British prosecutor's biting words—Joachim Von Ribbentrop seemed to growl to himself, Hans Frank jerked forward in the dock, Hjalmar Schacht wore a puzzled frown, Adm. Karl Doenitz sat impassive, Goering was listless.

Second To State Case
Sir Hartley was the second of the four Allied prosecutors to state his case, following the U. S. summary laid out by Justice Robert H. Jackson, who had charged that Goering and his 21 co-defendants were as guilty as Hitler because they "put a loaded gun in his eager hands."

"On their fate great issues must still depend. This trial must form a milestone in the history of civilization, not only bringing retribution to these guilty men, x x x but also that the ordinary people of the world—and I make no distinction now between friend and foe—are now determined that the individual must transcend the state."

State To Have Hot Air Today

By The Associated Press
Missouri can expect to share some of the hot Kansas air today (Sunday), bringing the two states more nearly into balance than they were yesterday, the weather bureau predicted.

Temperatures will range from 95 to 108 over Kansas, while Missouri's maximum will be in the 90's. Some showers in north-eastern Missouri are likely.

While Kansas was registering 106 degrees at Hutchinson and Dodge City, 105 at Wichita, Garden City, and Salina yesterday, Missouri was enjoying delightful resort temperatures, from 73 at Springfield to 92 at Joplin, with most of the readings in the lower 80's.

A few showers were recorded, including West Plains 1.03, Clinton .26 and Tarkio .12 in Missouri.

They called the boy back and looked through some correspondence that the girl had received from a roommate at college and found in one letter a reference to the first name and middle initial of the name on the boy's identification bracelet.

The message dated July 18 said that the boy had left a small town in a southern state a few days before, and was going to a camp in California, prior to going overseas.

The Sedalian telephoned the roommate's father and found that there was a boy from that town whose name was the same as that in the identification bracelet. The family was then summoned to the telephone and a brother's description of the boy corresponded with that the amnesia victim

Byrnes Off For Peace Conference

Purpose To Remove Dangerous Sources Of Friction Left From Last War

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes set out today for the peace conference opening Monday in Paris, leaving behind for later broadcast a statement that "the hope of avoiding some new and terrible war" depended on quick removal of frictions left over from the recent conflict.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) drew the assignment to read Byrnes' statement over the NBC network six hours after the secretary left by plane with assurances from President Truman that he has the support of the entire country "in his efforts to get a just peace for the world."

By Robert C. Wilson
PARIS, July 27.—(AP)—Top diplomats and a sprinkling of military experts from 21 nations will meet in the sprawling Luxembourg Palace at 3 p. m. (8 a. m. CST) Monday to open debate on peace treaties to shape the future of 83,000,000 inhabitants of five former enemy countries.

Convoked by the United States, Russia, Britain, and France, the Paris peace conference offers 17 invited nations the chance to make recommendations—but recommendations only—on pacts with Italy, Rumania, Finland, Hungary and Bulgaria.

The treaties already have been drafted by the foreign ministers of the four major powers. Among other details, the pacts would limit the former Axis satellites to armies totaling 495,000 men for all five, and would exact total reparations or more than $1,000,000,000.

Byrnes left Washington airport in the President's own plane at 12:20 p. m. on hand to see him off in addition to Mr. Truman were the other members of the cabinet, congressional leaders and Chief Justice Vinson. A crowd estimated at 3,000 witnessed the departure ceremonies which Connally opened by hailing Byrnes as a "great ambassador of peace."

Hoped To Sign Treaty
Byrnes told the airport crowd he hoped that peace treaties for former German satellite states in Europe would be completed and signed at the end of the 21-nation conference.

Before leaving Byrnes authorized Connally to read his 700-word statement on NBC's "University of the Air" series on American foreign policy.

In this statement Byrnes called for the best withdrawal of allied occupation troops consistent with world security, settlement of "explosive" boundary disputes, final decisions on reparations—over which the United States is currently engaged in argument with Russia—and maximum progress in providing people everywhere with "more food and houses and clothing."

Must Remove Friction
"Not until these things are accomplished will the people themselves begin to remember how precious peace really is and to make felt their universal determination not to commit atomic suicide," the secretary said.

"It seems to me that the hope of avoiding some new and terrible war greatly depends upon how quickly we can remove the dangerous sources of friction left in the wake of the last war."

Thus far progress in peace-making has been "the product of compromise," Byrnes said and he declared there is "no use to pretend that more compromises will not be necessary if we are to go the rest of the way."

Goal To Reconcile Convictions
"But the compromises we have reached and those I hope we will reach will be compromises intended to reconcile honest conflicts of opinion and not to secure selfish advantages for ourselves or others."

Byrnes departed on the President's personal plane amid more fanfare than has marked any of his previous six trips to Europe in the year he has been secretary.

Mr. Truman wished him "God-speed" and told a crowd of on-lookers, estimated by police officials at about 3,000, that the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government were all well represented in the ceremonies arranged to start him on his journey.

"If that is not a wholehearted send-off, I have never seen one," the President said, and the crowd applauded.

Crippled Children Program At Rotary Luncheon

The Rotary club program Monday noon at the Bothwell hotel will be in charge of the Crippled Children's committee, of which Rev. J. Fred King is chairman.

Guests will be Mrs. J. C. Connor, executive secretary of the Pettis County Crippled Children's Society, and Leonard Dowdy.

More City Speed Signs and Less Speed—

Before, during intermissions and after dances at Liberty park and when other events are held in the city's recreational spot there occurs an exodus of automobiles freighted with adults or children bound for some eating or drinking emporium.

Observation of drivers stepping on the gas at these particular times reveals they must be afflicted with an impulse of release from restraint. Some take great delight in approaching a stop intersection at high speed, breaking suddenly. Squealing tires and screaming passengers are the aftermath as they slide through the intersection and speed up again.

Along the route householders who have retired and verge on slumber are brought up straight in bed by midnight terrifying noises of impending disaster. For parents whose children are out this is a nerve-racking experience.

Juvenile and adult drivers, too, seem to need some discipline. On the parental side it is not effective evidently, which next brings it to the attention of the police.

Within Sedalia's city limits the speed law is 25 miles an hour in the residential district, 12½ miles downtown. Plenty fast enough for anyone driving one of the nation's most deadly mechanisms.

Effective reminders of city speed limits are neat signs scattered along main traveled streets like those you see in Kansas City.

Of course everyone would like to have their own pet ideas considered right away in the administration's program of improvements. All cannot be accomplished at once, yet obtaining and placing of more speed signs and enforcement of the speed laws are something immediately desirable in the interest of protection of life and limb on Sedalia's streets.

They Were Quick on the Trigger—

Slaying of two bank robbers in a gun battle near Osceola by two peace officers the past week suggests that the early days in Missouri had no more to offer than today when it comes to bravery among the law enforcing officials.

Which recalls another story by John Kuhn, North Grand avenue, about early Sedalia and the Jackson men who upheld the law. John Jackson was a brave man and had no fear, according to Kuhn. There was a desperado in a building near Knob Noster. Jackson and some other men surrounded the house. The man in hiding was heavily armed and had the place barricaded. The peace officers didn't seem to know how to go about getting him until John Jackson spoke up and said, "I'll get him." John went up to the door and broke it down whereupon the desperado came out with a gun in each hand. He shot Jackson in the head. He was brought back to Sedalia on a stretcher in a railroad caboose on the Missouri Pacific. This was witnessed by Kuhn who said they took Jackson into the baggage room. John Wright was baggageman.

Jackson finally recovered after an operation which left him with a silver plate in his head. Kuhn did not relate what happened to the desperado.

Jackson's father was also a fearless man. A story about him was told to Kuhn by the latter's grandfather, a tailor. The elder Jackson was on a horse looking for a desperado. They met just at the intersection of Pacific street and Osage. Jackson was too quick for the bad man and shot him off his horse.

An interesting sidelight on early day Sedalia history is offered by R. R. Highleyman, retired M. K. & T. railroad engineer. Many times he caught fish, big enough to eat, in the stream that once flowed in the neighborhood of Ninth street and Hancock Avenue.

Knucklebusters Will Have Another Day—

Experimental activity of youngsters in the model airplane field has contributed inestimably to the development of aviation both from a mechanical and safety standpoint.

Knucklebusters, as the model plane builders are called have been growing to adulthood the past generation or so. From a background of model hobbyist have come aeronautical engineers and flyers.

Youngsters should be encouraged in this teen age activity to keep alive the search for technical information that contributes to improvement of aircraft.

Sedalia has its Knucklebusters and they, with others from far points, would have participated in the Sedalia Kiwanis Club model airplane contest at Sedalia Airport near Dresden Sunday morning and afternoon. However, the Kiwanis board of directors postponed the contest as a precautionary measure against the possibility of spreading infantile paralysis.

The model flyers will be encouraged to continue their individual plane building and practicing until such time the regional contest is reinstated either this fall or next summer.

Kiwanians devoted considerable personal energy and expense for several months planning this event, and even more by the unexpected postponement. They are not discouraged but are already planning, with enforced additional time, to make the regional event a bigger one than originally anticipated.

Combating Disease With Common Sense—

Much concern over infantile paralysis is prevalent throughout the state and nation. Repeated suggestions are made by members of the medical profession concerning precautionary measures and parents are passing this advice on to their children.

Children are likely to look upon this advice as another chapter in unnecessary disciplinary restrictions of their activities. But honestly, children, it isn't. Strenuous play causes fatigue, sudden chills lower resistance. The doctors are authority for these warnings, not the parents. The latter are just passing along some real advice.

Dr. John W. Williams, Jr., of the state health department, boils it down to this—about the simplest and sanest advice in a few words:

"A child might be able to attend movies, go swimming or play in larger groups and never contract the disease, but COMMON SENSE TELLS YOU THERE IS NO USE TAKING CHANCES."

That's the doctor talking, kids. DON'T TAKE CHANCES. There are so many years of fun ahead it's worth taking it easy for just 60 more days. Maybe these restrictions are difficult to understand, but you would understand, wouldn't you, if you or one of your dear playmates were crippled for life by this disease because of your carelessness?

A flicker examined by a scientist had 5000 ants in its stomach; not near as many as might be found in the pants of restless juveniles. But you can't blame Sedalia kids for having ants in their pants. What they need is a decent swimming pool—and that before next summer. And it should be big enough to accommodate some of the restless adults, too.

XXXVIII

SALLY couldn't have told what she ate that evening. The letter in her pocket weighed heavily. She knew it was from Richard Gregory. What had he discovered—if anything? He must have found out something else he wouldn't have written. In her room some time later she drew out the typewritten pages and scanned them with foreboding. One sentence stood out from the page in letters of flame:

"Capt. Blair Canfield is due in Washington on July 7th at which time he is to receive the Congressional Medal from the hands of the President of the United States."

Sally sat down suddenly in the nearest chair. What should she do? What could she do? It would be in all the papers. Jim Hallock would know she had lied and despise her. She picked up the letter again. Blair Canfield lived in Iowa. His father would accompany him to Washington. Oh, why had she chosen that name? What evil spirit had possessed her? She read on, scarcely comprehending the information Richard Gregory had written.

"The elder Canfield has connections in the East—believe it or not, my dear—in Lintonville. They plan to stop off in your town for a visit with certain distant relatives but—and this is a break for you—there is to be no fanfare—no entertaining

—just a quiet family get-together. I knew I had heard that name somewhere. Sally. The Canfields are prominent in the mid-west and last fall young Blair was interviewed by one of the slick paper magazines because of his amazing success as a farmer. He was once the pride of the mid-west you know—state golf champion and famous tackle—made the All-America, I believe. Now he raises hogs—thousands of them. He is older than you thought—28 to be exact, so you see he can't be your Blair after all. But it will be hard to convince people if news of his visit leaks out. I don't know what to advise you to do. Perhaps the best thing would be to let it ride.

"How is Jim Hallock? Are you being a little kind to him?"

HAD she been kinder to him? She had refused Carolyn's invitation for dinner tonight because she felt sure Jim would be there. Suddenly she wanted him desperately. She jumped up and ran down the stairs to the telephone. She dialed the Bacon number and when Mrs. Bacon answered asked if she could reconsider her refusal. She would like to come out if it wasn't too late. It wasn't and she bathed and dressed in record time. Then she flew down the stairs.

She had to catch that bus due at the stop at the foot of Main Street Hill in just a few minutes. She didn't notice the insistent honking of a horn and it wasn't until a small, shabby car slid up to the curb on which she stood that she recognized Jim Hallock. Her heart skipped a beat. This was luck—better luck than she deserved.

"Going my way, Sally?" he asked as she hesitated for a brief moment. "Hop in and we'll go together."

She got in beside him just as the crowded bus lumbered past. Sally sighed in relief. "I'm glad I didn't have to sandwich myself into that crowd," she told him gratefully. "You must be gifted with second sight, Jim," she went on impulsively. "I was wishing you would come along."

"HONESTLY, Sally?" he asked, his face flushing with pleasure. "I wish I dared believe that." "You may," she told him honestly and the little car swerved dangerously as he turned to look at her. "But—do you know where I'm going, Jim?"

"Sure. Where I intend taking you. Out to the Bacon cabin. Right?"

"Right. Were you invited for dinner, too?"

"I was, and I knew you were; but was told you couldn't make it. Then when you changed your mind, Carolyn phoned me and I stuck around hoping to pick you up before the bus did. Swell people, the Bacons!"

Sally laughed. "Swell match-makers or they think they are," she said demurely. "Do you mind?" he asked almost dubiously.

Sally laughed again. "Not a bit," she told him. "It is all so terribly obvious a child could see through them. Of course," she went on softly, "if it were any other man it might prove embarrassing, but—"

"But what, Sally?" he whispered and the car slid gently into the shallow roadside ditch and settled with what appeared to be permanence while the two in the shabby, battered coupe were quite unaware of what had happened.

"You—you're nice, Jim!" the girl whispered in her turn.

"O-oh, Sally!" he breathed and held her close while his lips found hers and clung for a long ecstatic moment.

Eons passed while the earth spun crazily and the stars sang together the age-old melody reserved for lovers.

Less Than a Year After Victory Finds Army Reduced to Impotency

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent
FORT KNOX, Ky. (NEA)—

What has happened to the once most powerful fighting force in the world? Less than a year after victory, the U. S. army that won resounding triumphs in every quarter of the globe finds itself reduced to tragic impotency. Buck sergeants are doing captain's work in the field artillery. Air force colonels are acting as grease monkeys to get planes into the air.

And the vaunted 82nd Airborne Division, which has been designated as America's first force of defense, would need nine months in its present condition to get into the air any strength at all.

In an extensive tour of major army installations in the U. S., we found such impotency was widespread despite an abundance of the finest, most modern fighting equipment ever available to an army. The tour was arranged by the War Department after Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, had made a similar survey himself and was apparently shocked at what too-fast demobilization had done to his forces.

Maj. Gen. James M. Gavin is the author of that nine-month estimate to put the 82nd Airborne into fighting shape. He should know, for he was its commander when it made fighting history and is its commander now at its present headquarters at Fort Bragg, N. C.

He says the 82nd is at only 50 per cent strength, that he is not only short of men but many of the men he has are untrained, and that lack of manpower is causing the U. S. to lose the know-how of airborne operations.

Pilots Fly Typewriters

The air fields visited during this tour reveal a similar situation. The AAF has too many officers, too few enlisted men.

Pilots are learning office jobs. They are being taught how to type and file. Majors are doing clerical work formerly assigned to corporals and sergeants. It is a common sight to see high ranking air force officers on the airports in dungarees servicing their own plants and gassing them up. They are being given courses formerly for crew chiefs. But the morale is good. A captain with an outstanding combat record said:

"I'm finding my wide blue yonder in the filing cabinet and machine shop these days."

Only the Medical corps of the army appears to have maintained its strength. This was discovered in spite of the claim by its high officers that there is a shortage of doctors. Many of the lower-ranked doctors who are anxious to get out of uniform claim the army has been hoarding doctors. Patients in all the hospitals visited said there seemed to be plenty of doctors around to do the work.

At Ft. Bragg in artillery classes the situation is the reverse of the Air force. There are enough enlisted men, but no officers. In training and in practice sergeants and corporals are directing fire and other work which is usually done by lieutenants and captains.

Even the Army's canine corps is suffering from the lack of manpower. One man is having to act as trainer for three or four dogs. This is resulting in serious jealousy among the dogs and they fight and become unmanageable. Whenever possible civilians are being used by the Army. At Ft. Bragg they are doing office work formerly done by soldiers. At Ft. Benning, Ga., they are hired to carry guns and do guard duty. Here at Ft. Knox they are hired as technical instructors. Corporals and sergeants used to do this work which civilians are doing for $3,000 and $4,000 a year.

The Army, however, is pleased with the way civilians are working out in these jobs. Most of the job holders are former Army men who did the same thing for less money while in uniform.

There has been a recent upswing in enlistments. But the men have to be trained and there aren't enough trained personnel to do the training. As one officer put it: "We've got too many bodies and not enough soldiers."

One of the most encouraging aspects of the picture, however, is the operations of the Army Ground Force boards. These boards test, evaluate and recommend new equipment and weapons for the Army. They are keeping abreast of developments in science in spite of manpower shortages. Already they have made many improvements in equipment and arms over what the troops were using in the field during the war. It is their job to see that the ground forces keep abreast with science and from the evidence seen, it appears they are being successful.

LISTEN!

by
Jim Carson

PULLED UP the cracker-barrel the other day for a chat with Bill Griffith. We got to talking about some of the so-called good old days. Bill, you know, came to K M B C with a brilliant background in the newspaper field.
The conversation got onto the subject of thrills in being a reporter,
and he came up
with a hair-raiser.
It seems that
Bill was covering a prison break for his paper. He got a tip as to where the convicts could be found.
On driving to the spot, however, he found nothing, and turned into a farmhouse lane to start back home. Five minutes later guards arrived and were met with a fusillade from the cons who had been inside the very farmhouse where Bill had turned his car around. In view of Erie Smith's extended illness, the boys in the KMBC newsroom are still doubling up on the schedules. You hear Bill Griffith at high noon as well as his regular 6, 7:15, 8:25 and 9:45 morning spots.

Mental Hospitals Lacked Trained Personnel

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—Shocking stories and pictures of the treatment of patients in some state mental hospitals were printed in the past year.

Behind such stories are reasons like these: Not enough money spent on mental hospitals and not enough trained people—like psychiatrists and attendants—to handle the patients.

The government has stepped in to the field and will build, probably in about two years, a national mental health institute. It also will have $10,000,000 a year to spend on:

Its own research into mental illness, helping with research in schools and hospitals, training young specialists, and assisting the states.

Here is a picture of the mental health problem as given by the senate committee on education and labor after studying the field:

The most serious deficiency in the field of mental health is the lack of trained personnel.

4,000 Psychiatrists

There are only 4,000 psychiatrists in this country, including those in the armed forces, but about 16,000 are needed.

A mental health program able to do the job that needs to be done would require an additional 1,700 psychologists, 15,000 nurses, 4,500 psychiatric social workers, 1,000 occupational therapists, 15,000 attendants, and some 3,000 other technical personnel.

The first line of defense against mental illness is the general medical doctor, but "today the general practitioner is inadequately trained to handle mental illness."

The committee said further: "Psychiatric training today is inadequate in perhaps one-third of our medical schools and it was non-existent at the time when many of the older physicians received their medical training."

Lack Mental Disease Knowledge

"Accordingly, a mental health program must call for the encouragement of adequate psychiatric training in medical schools for the improvement and expansion of teaching facilities. . . . Present facilities for training psychiatrists are inadequate."

"Undergraduate training in psychiatry was rated in a pre-war survey as excellent in only 19 of 67 Class A medical schools in the country, and psychiatric training was considered to be sub-standard in approximately one-third of these schools. . . .

"It should also be noted that one of the reasons for the serious shortage of trained psychiatrists in the country and for the inadequate psychiatric training given general medical practitioners is the fact that a great majority of the deans (of medical schools) are not sufficiently informed regarding the mental health needs of the country—at least not informed to such an extent as to improve and expand within the limits of their financial ability, the psychiatric instruction available in their institutions."

N. W. Gates, Kansas City Found Dazed At Nevada

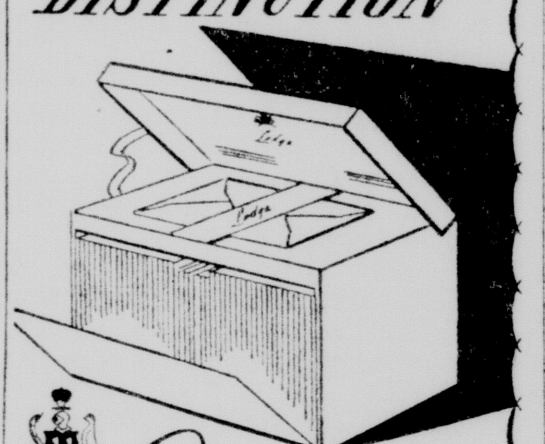

NEVADA, Mo., July 27.—(AP)—A man identified as N. W. Gates, 38, Amarillo, Tex., by Sheriff Leslie K. Hunt was found wandering in a dazed condition along a highway two miles south of here Friday.

He was taken to a Nevada hospital for treatment but physicians there were unable to determine immediately the cause for his condition.

Sheriff Hunt said the man told him he was a ground crew employee of a national airline and that he had been receiving treatment for an injured arm at Research hospital in Kansas City, Gates, the sheriff said, told him he could remember nothing after accepting a ride from two men in Kansas City last night. He said $54 was missing from his billfold, which still contained $6 when he was found.

Philip Murray And Other C. I. O.'s Sued

KANSAS CITY, July 27.—(AP)—A suit for $75,680 damages was filed Friday in Jackson county circuit court against Philip Murray, international president of the United Steel Workers (C. I. O.) and 20 others of the union, including 16 members of Local 1957.

The action was filed by Harold Etzenhouser of Liberty, Mo., who alleged he was replaced as president of the local and was voted out of the union as a result of a factional fight at the union headquarters in which he was knocked unconscious.

Etzenhouser alleged the defendants conspired to "do bodily harm to the plaintiff" so that he would be "intimidated, injured and confined to his home." The petition alleges that while Etzenhouser was confined by his injuries, the local elected another president March 2, and on April 1 ousted him from the union. He was discharged by his employer May 5.

Etzenhouser asks $80 in back pay as president, $600 for loss of income, $25,000 for future loss of income, $25,000 for damage to his reputation, and $25,000 punitive damages.

The petitions asserted that an appeal to David J. McDonald, international secretary-treasurer of the union, was not acknowledged.

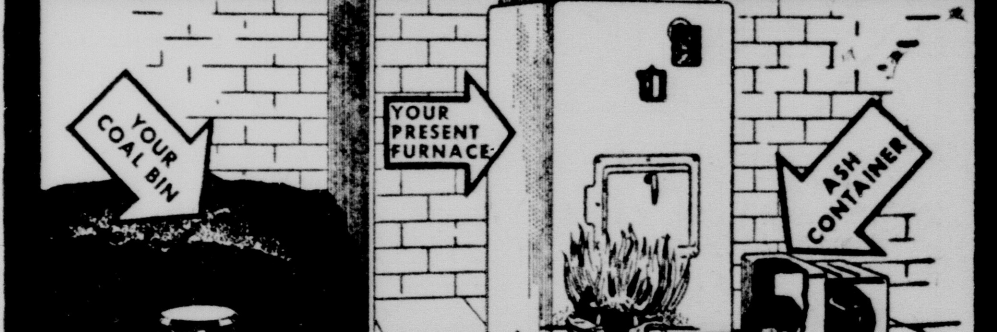

Takes First Plane Ride At Age Of 89
KANSAS CITY, July 27.—(AP)—The first plane trip for 89-year-

'Bud' Garrison Resented The Interference With Army Life

BATAVIA, Ill., July 27.—(AP)—Joseph "Bud" Garrison, former army captain and son of Murray Garrison, a principal in the senate war profits investigation, said Friday that throughout his army career his commanders were under instructions to "take care of Garrison."

He told a news conference that while he was at Edgewood arsenal in 1942, he had a chance to go overseas as a staff sergeant.

"My application was blocked," he said. "The executive officer told me, 'we've got a standing order that you are not to go overseas.'"

Garrison said that through his own efforts however, he was sent to Europe and spent more than 300 days in combat. He was awarded the bronze star for meritorious service in France.

He stated he was unaware of it if Rep. Andrew May interceded in his behalf when he faced a court martial in France for disobedience of a command. He said he "once shook hands" with May when he was passing through Washington.

Garrison said he resented interference with his army career but felt that "anything done for me in the army through influence of my father was done because a normal father's reaction is to protect his son and possibly further his career."

He said he believes his father did not ask May to use his influence except in the court-martial case, but added he believes the influence came "through generals in the chemical warfare branch."

In Europe in 1944, young Garrison stated, the commander of the 83rd chemical battalion told Garrison he had orders from "higher headquarters to take care of Garrison."

"At Anzio I served under the finest officer I ever met," Garrison said. "He was General Robert T. Fredericks. But apparently even he had orders to see that I didn't get into any dangerous places. He caught me out on patrol several times and told me to get back—that was not my job. After he was wounded at Rome he apparently left word to 'take care of Garrison.'"

Young Garrison is in charge of railroad sales at the Batavia plant.

The guests were Miss Barnett, Mrs. Lawrence Barnett, Mrs. James McCurdy, Miss Elaine Chipman, Miss Patsy Rissler, Miss Janet Stanley, Miss Lavonne Wright, Miss Walker, Mrs. Yeagle and Mrs. Stivers.

Mrs. Sherman was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Paul Hedderich.

Those present were Miss Barnett, Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. George Scruton, Mrs. J. C. Griffin, Mrs. Gene Walker, Mrs. Elmer Adams, Mrs. John Riley and Mrs. William Griffith. First and second awards in bridge went to Mrs. Griffin and Mrs. Scruton.

A dessert bridge was given Friday night for Miss Barnett and Miss La Verne Broyles, whose marriage to Robert Hunt will take place in the near future, by Miss Lavonne Wright at her home, 1500 West Broadway.

The hostess, who was assisted by her mother, Mrs. C. A. Wright, presented each honoree with a corsage of white gladioli and a gift.

Other guests were Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. McCurdy, Mrs. Griffith, Miss Rissler, Mrs. Robert Wesner, Miss Stanley, Mrs. Barne, Mrs. Vernon Broyles, Mrs. Heber U. Hunt, Mrs. E. K. Atkinson, Miss Frankie June Rodgers, Mrs. John Erickson, Miss Norma Lee Kindred, Miss Dorothy Sue Roe, Mrs. Kenneth Lutjen, Miss Genevieve Sullivan and Mrs. Harold Fimple.

Miss Elizabeth Fackler, whose engagement to Mr. Dwight C. Marts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Marts, of Lucas, Ia., is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fackler, of Beaman.

Kansas City, Kas., were honorees of a shower and dinner Sunday, July 14, at the home of Mr. Hooper's aunt, Mrs. Junior Nichols, of Post.

A three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the dining table.

Mrs. Hooper, the former Daisy Catherine Jeffers, is the daughter of W. L. Jeffers, of Sedalia. Mr. Hooper's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Hooper, 1002 East Broadway.

A busy afternoon and evening of outdoor and indoor activities were enjoyed last Sunday by Misses Marietta Berry, Carolyn Collins, Mary Frances Williams and Nola Witte, who were guests of Miss Barbara Haggard at the Haggard farm, RFD 3, Sedalia.

Among the diversions were hiking, horseback riding, card and croquet games, ice cream freezing and corn popping.

Miss Evelyn Beach and Mrs. Kenneth Lutjen honored Miss LaVerne Broyles, whose marriage to Robert Hunt is to be an August event, with a bathroom shower last Tuesday night. The party was given at the home of Miss Beach's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Beach, 706 South Kentucky avenue.

Decorations, favors and refreshments carried out the idea of a trip to the circus. Small tables were set for guests and gay colored balloons, tied to make high nosegays, formed the centerpiece for each table.

A silver colored balloon, with white satin streamers, was presented Miss Broyles and she was told to burst it which she did. Inside she found a verse which instructed her to burst each balloon. As she followed the instructions she found in each balloon a verse which described one of the guests.

When she had correctly guessed the one described she found their gift under a cleverly made circus tent of red, white and blue crepe paper and wide bands of red satin ribbon. The tent was set up on the dining room table.

The circus ring was composed of small vari-colored soap animals to which were attached tiny banners each bearing the name of one of the guests.

After the shower guests were bally-hoed to a booth decorated with hand-painted animal cartoons where refreshments of popcorn and individual malts were served.

Games in keeping with the circus theme were then played with awards going to Miss Lois Green and Miss Virginia Lindstrom.

Later in the evening cokes in bright colored paper cups were served to the following: Miss Broyles, Mrs. Heber Hunt, Mrs. A. A. Studebaker, Mrs. Forrest Rove, Mrs. A. R. Beach, Mrs. John Erickson, Miss Betty Englund, Miss Willa Brunkhorst, Miss Virginia Lindstrom, Miss Lois Green, Miss Dorothy Sue Roe, Miss Frankie June Rodgers, Miss Norma Lee Kindred and Miss Genevieve Sullivan.

"Let's Quit Swimming In Resolutions"

Some very prettily phrased resolutions have been adopted by Sedalia's various organizations and clubs during the past few weeks indorsing the proposed new swimming pool for Liberty Park.

These are really worth-while gestures on the part of these fine organizations; they show the tremendous interest of their members in bettering the conditions in Sedalia of our youth. But youth is restless; anxious to get going.

So let's stop passing these "talkie-talkies" and start digging the black dirt for the new pool. Our boys and girls have acted the role of real citizens in making their request; let's treat them like grown-folks.

May we offer one little suggestion to those who will supervise design of the pool: SEDALIA SERVES MORE THAN 150,000 PERSONS IN THIS CENTRAL MISSOURI TRADE TERRITORY! If we install the proper size modern pool with proper health conserving features, these people of Central Missouri will come here to swim as well as to shop in our stores.

Let's quit swimming in resolutions now, and get to work excavating. Swimming in resolutions these hot July days doesn't help cool us off. It makes us hot under the collar!

Burnett Meat Co. Missouri Semi-Pro 1946 Champions

Sammy House Pitcher For Burnett Credited With Eighteen Strike-Outs During Game

The Sedalia Ramblers, sponsored by Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, bowed in defeat to the Burnett Meat Co., of Kansas City Saturday night, in the final game of the 1946 Missouri State Semi-Pro baseball tournament. Burnett, undefeated in any games in the tournament, became the Missouri champions. They now must play the Arkansas State champions in a five-game play-off series for the right to go to the National Baseball Congress tournament at Wichita, Kansas, in August.

The Ramblers just didn't have the stuff against the more superior team. Then too there was just too much Sammy House on the mound for the Meat Company, his pitching was superb resulting in eighteen strikeouts.

Burnett jumped into a lead in the top half of the first inning. They never missed a chance to score, in fact got some chances which unnerved the Ramblers. Again in the third it was repeated, incidentally it was Bankhead, Burnett short stop who scored both of them. Two more came up in the fifth and three in the sixth. Bankhead scored one of these rally runs for a total himself of three.

Three Got Safeties
Sedalia batters just could not get their batting eye to working and House continued to put it across where they could not hit it. However, Taylor, Smith and G. Thompson did get safeties.

Paul Evans came in to relieve White in the sixth inning. White was doing alright up until this inning, when the fireworks broke loose. And it was all White's fault. The Sedalians did turn in some hot playing and worked hard on the field to shutout any threats, but good clean hits helped the scoring of Bankhead who was walked twice.

House was the only batter to get an extra base hit, a double to centerfield.

Mighty Assault Finishes Last At Arlington

$95,000 Classic To Dude Who Scores An Astounding Upset

CHICAGO, July 27.—(AP)—Mighty Assault, reigning 3 year old champion and leading money winner, finished absolutely last in a six horse field today as the Dude scored an astounding upset victory in the $95,000 Arlington classic.

A throng of 45,000 witnessed the Dude's triumph which brought home, with stunning effect, the fable that Arlington park is the graveyard of champions.

The winner, purchased only a year ago as a selling player for $4,000, is owned by Mrs. Al Gaal, New Orleans, La., whose husband trains the colt and owns a small time four-horse stable. For the Dude's victory, Mrs. Gaal collected $76,850, richest prize in classic history.

Not only did the bearer of Mrs. Gaal's American beauty silks flash to a convincing triumph in the mile and a quarter event, but the little chestnut colt made the pace so hot that Assault trailed the field two and one quarter lengths in back of Lord Boswell in fifth place. James C. Stone's Sgt. Spence, a 45 to 1 shot, finished second and John March's Mighty Story, third.

Jockey Melvin Duhan, a 21 year old lad from Kaplan, La., a free lance pilot, got the Dude out in the lead before the pack hit the first turn and made a one-horse race of it all the way. The Dude led at one time on the back stretch by six lengths.

At the finish, the Dude was a length and a half ahead of Sgt. Spence, with Mighty Story two and a half lengths behind. Then came Hal Price Headley's Athena, well fill in the race, Lord Boswell and finally the defeated champion.

Assault, with $339,720 piled up in winning six of seven starts, including the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont stakes this year, is the highest 3 year old money winner in turf history.

The Dude went to the post at odds of 6 to 1, paying $15,000, $6.80 and $6.00. Sgt. Spence ridden by jockey Bobbie Campbell, paid $30.20 and $15, while Mighty Story, with jockey Irving Anderson, up $9.80 to lose.

The crowd wagered $360,178 on the classic, a betting record for one race in Illinois.

Assault went to the post favorite at odds of 7 to 10. The Dude ran the miles and a quarter in 2:02 3/5 over a fast track. The Dude now takes his place with such classic stars of the past as Mate, which beat Twenty Grand, Gusto which whipped Top Flight, Challenger, conqueror of Johnstown and Attention victor over Whirlaway.

Sport Scraps

(By D. Kelly Scruton)

THE Jr. Legion went down swinging—two games in one day proved a little too much. Regardless of a win or loss, the local team displayed their fight from the first day until the final out in the championship contest which they lost 1 to 10 to St. Louis.

It happened just like 1945, the boys fought hard to get to the finals. There was a little difference, but almost the same. They played practically two games in that extra inning contest in 1945 and came back without any pitchers. This year they had a tough game against Jefferson City Friday night, came back to play Saturday against Kansas City to win and followed up this game two hours later to go against a fresh team, in the finals.

The American Legion, to my opinion of seeing the results of 1945 and 1946 tournaments, should operate something like the Semi-Pro tournament, whereby the championship game is played a week later. Thus each team has an opportunity for a rest, their pitching staff isn't all burned out, and the results a better scrap can be put up by the underdog team as well as the favorite.

Nevertheless the Sedalia boys are greatly admired by every baseball follower in Sedalia, and congratulations are extended to them for the fine showing they did make in the tournament.

BIG JIM EGBERT, hurling for the Jr. Legion, Friday night against Jefferson City pitched a whale of a game. But Egbert was burned up at the Capital City team and it didn't help the opponents any when they started razzing him about being "Little Jim" and "do you remember last year's football game". All it did was make his madder and madder and irritate the rest of the team and the players tightened up so tight they played one of their best games.

Jefferson City again was given their lesson in baseball by the Sedalia team. Maybe next year they will remember their mistakes in razzing and will let well enough alone.

We cannot overlook Joe Imhauser, who pitched the shutout game against Farmington. Imhauser worked hard, but he like Egbert had some excellent backing on the part of the other eight players on the team.

Imhauser pitched a good game against Burnett for six innings and was relieved by Billy Hawley, who turned in a beautiful relief job. The victory over Burnett upset the Legion tournament, as Burnett was considered the choice to go against St. Louis in the finals. But the Cream always comes to the top—and that was Sedalia.

INCIDENTALLY last Thursday, Horace Dawson, former secretary of the Missouri Athletic Commission, and a friend of mine came through Sedalia enroute to Kansas City. He called me up to inform me that "Jimmy" his son was doing the pitching for Jefferson City. He also let it be known that Jefferson City would probably be in the finals.

"I don't know much" arguing, I just told him Imhauser would take care of Farmington and Egbert whoever next they met. I suppose Horace is still wondering what the Sedalians did to Jefferson City.

"Jim" pitched against Sedalia in that game.

AMONG the faithful baseball fans in attendance during the Semi-Pro tournament was Jimmy Swafford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Swafford, 141 West Tenth street. Jimmy is a real fan of baseball, he loves the game and hopes to be a player "when I get big".

Jimmy knows his baseball too. In fact he was there watching each play and when a doubt came to his mind, didn't waste any time in getting over to the official scoring box to fire the necessary questions to get himself informed.

But the "deal" that stumped him was during a game the other night. He very official like requested the lineups of the teams playing. He wrote down the names. When he got his second team down, he said "thanks, that's all" and walked over and sat down. The game progressed, Jimmy kept his score card.

About the fifth inning the announcer gave the name of the player at bat. It wasn't the name Jimmy had, he walked over to check it with the scorers. It was then Jimmy found he only had seven players on his card. "Can you beat that, and I was so sure I was doing it right," Jimmy said.

He went back to his seat and sat down, "Oh well," he said, "I guess I can watch it better than I can keep score."

Howard Hughes:

He Plays With Plane$
Movie$, But for Profit$

By NEA Service
LOS ANGELES (NEA)—Howard Hughes, the millionaire playboy who plays for profit on the land, in the air, and in the movies, is a smooth young man who has been experimenting with new things all his life and up to now has met with nothing but success. Even his crash while testing the fast new plane he built for the Army was nothing new under the bright and nearly always shining Hughes sun. Hughes, now 41, crashed before in one of his own planes, too. But that time he got up and walked away.

He started with a $650,000 oil drilling tool business, inherited from his family, and ran it into a jackpot worth between 150 and 200 million dollars. At various times during this build-up, his personal, non-losing slot machine has paused to pay off in world's records in everything from airplanes to movies.

Hughes was only 18 when his father died in 1923, leaving him the small, conservative Hughes Tool Co. in Texas. The company built rock bits for deep well drilling. Hughes had to get court permission to run the company because he was under age, but once he got his hands on it, he lifted it into the biggest of its kind in the country. Last year it did a $30,000,000 business—not counting war contracts.

Once he had imbued the tool company with the Hughes spirit, he looked around for something else to play with. He tried movies as an independent, and the industry laughed. It's still laughing, but the laughter is hollow. Before he was 21 he backed his first film venture into a $100,000 profit. His first full-fledged venture, a comedy called "Two Arabian Nights," was worth $300,000 to him.

Next he starred Thomas Meighan in a brutal portrayal of big-city political racketeering called "The Racket." Big city censors didn't like it, but Hughes fought them in court, finally got the show into theaters and cleaned up again.

More than two decades later, he was still having the same trouble with censors—and reaping profits out of it. He made "The Outlaw," and in the ensuing publicity, made a top personality out of its star, Jane Russell, even though few people have seen her yet except in the publicity shots. Where "The Outlaw" has played, Randolph Hearst and several others in an attempt to buy MGM. The deal fell through.

He has been just as eager and successful in aviation—not alone as a magnate, but as a man right up in the front seat. Hughes started flying when he was 14, once went to work for American Airways at $250 a month to learn about the business. He learned. He owns several airplane and parts plants and is controlling stockholder in TWA airlines, which he moved into in 1939.
He built, designed and flew a plane in 1935 to set a world's land speed record of 352 miles per hour, then set a transcontinental record from Los Angeles to New York in seven hours and 28 minutes. When Russia tried to buy that plane two years later, he said no sale.
In 1938, he took off from New York, flew around the world in three days and 19 hours, cutting the previous record in half. His plane was fixed up as a flying laboratory, and out of his flight came many of the ideas he translated into war production in the years that followed.
His almost magic touch is mixed up in the Constellation, super-airliner which his TWA got the first chance at, and which its manufacturer ballyhooed in a style somewhat akin to the three sheets announcing "The Outlaw."
But crashes are haunting the Constellation just as they are haunting the man who conceived the plane and backed it with a $20,000,000 note.
During the war his companies did a total of $200,000,000 worth of work for the government, made no excess profits, and when the contracts were negotiated, the government found no refunds were required.
With this whirlwind life of films and flying, it is not surprising that Hughes has been a bachelor, except for one three-year marriage venture with Ella Rice, daughter of the founder of Rice Institute in Houston, Tex., which ended in divorce in 1938.
Hughes is no shrinking violet. He's been seen among the glamorous. Faith Dorn, a movie actress, announced in 1941 she and Hughes were engaged. Others have hopefully hinted the same thing. Nothing ever came of it.

Once he decided to try yachting. He bought the "Southern Cross" in 1935 for a paltry three million.
And he owns the biggest brewery in Texas. It helps pay for his champagne, when he drinks it.
All moving parts in a gas turbine engine move in the same direction, eliminating vibration.

America Has Atomic Bomb and its Secrets

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

When one takes the trouble to study the U. S. proposal for atomic energy control, which has been bluntly rejected by Soviet Delegate Gromyko with one of his famous "noes," it appears likely that the portion to which Russia objects must offer one of the best guarantees of world peace yet developed.

This is the provision for an International Atomic Development Authority which would have absolute power over atomic raw materials and production and would be endowed with the right of investigation into every nook and cranny of any country. In order that there be no interference with this unprecedented power, America proposed that the right of veto—now held by the Big Five nations—be abolished for all matters relating to atomic energy.

What better single preventative of war could there be? Wars of aggression are prepared for secretly. Herr Hitler built up his army secretly, and he made munitions in plants which were concealed. If an international commission had looked this arch-gangster over once in a while he might not have had World War II.

Of course the American proposal means surrender of that degree of sovereignty necessary to permit such a development authority to carry out its investigations. But the whole concept of our new U. N. peace organization is based on the giving up of some measure of sovereignty for the general good, and it's hard to see how an investigating commission could impinge on the rights of any nation which had nothing to conceal.

Now the whole world knows Russia is an ardent advocate of peace. So her unwillingness to surrender a wee bit of sovereignty isn't impelled by warlike ideas. However, an outstanding characteristic of present day Russia is an intense desire to shield herself from prying eyes. This applies not only to Russia proper but to those countries under Moscow's control.

Russia Sealed Off

A striking example of this is seen in the fact that the Russian zones of occupied countries in many instances are virtually sealed off from other Allies. Apropos of this American officials in Washington yesterday said that the United States is pressing at every opportunity for an Allied commission to investigate the extent of disarmament in all zones of Germany but so far the Russians have stood firmly against any such survey.

One reason for this secretiveness would seem to lie in the fact that the Soviet government is very, very young. It was born out of bloody revolution less than a generation ago, and for long was maintained in the face of enemies at home and abroad who persistently tried to pull it down.

It's natural for the Soviet to be suspicious. There are other elements entering into the story, but suspicion is one of the main difficulties.

Let Gromyko Carry Ball

However, to get back to Russia's rejection of the American proposal, a spokesman for the U. S. delegation says: "We will now let Gromyko carry the ball for a while and listen to what all the delegates have to say about his proposals." Moscow's proposition would put the whole system of atomic control under the United Nations Security Council and the United Nations set-up. It would retain the power of veto.

So we may now expect a period of Russian arguments, and of discussions of those arguments by the other delegations. The U. S.

contingent expresses confidence that it can sell its own program to the other nations. But what if Uncle Sam can't sell his bill of goods? Well, there's always a chance of a compromise, although at this writing the American delegation is standing pat on all fundamental points of its plan. After all, it's in position to stand pat—even to refuse to compromise, for that matter—because America has the atomic bomb and its secrets.
